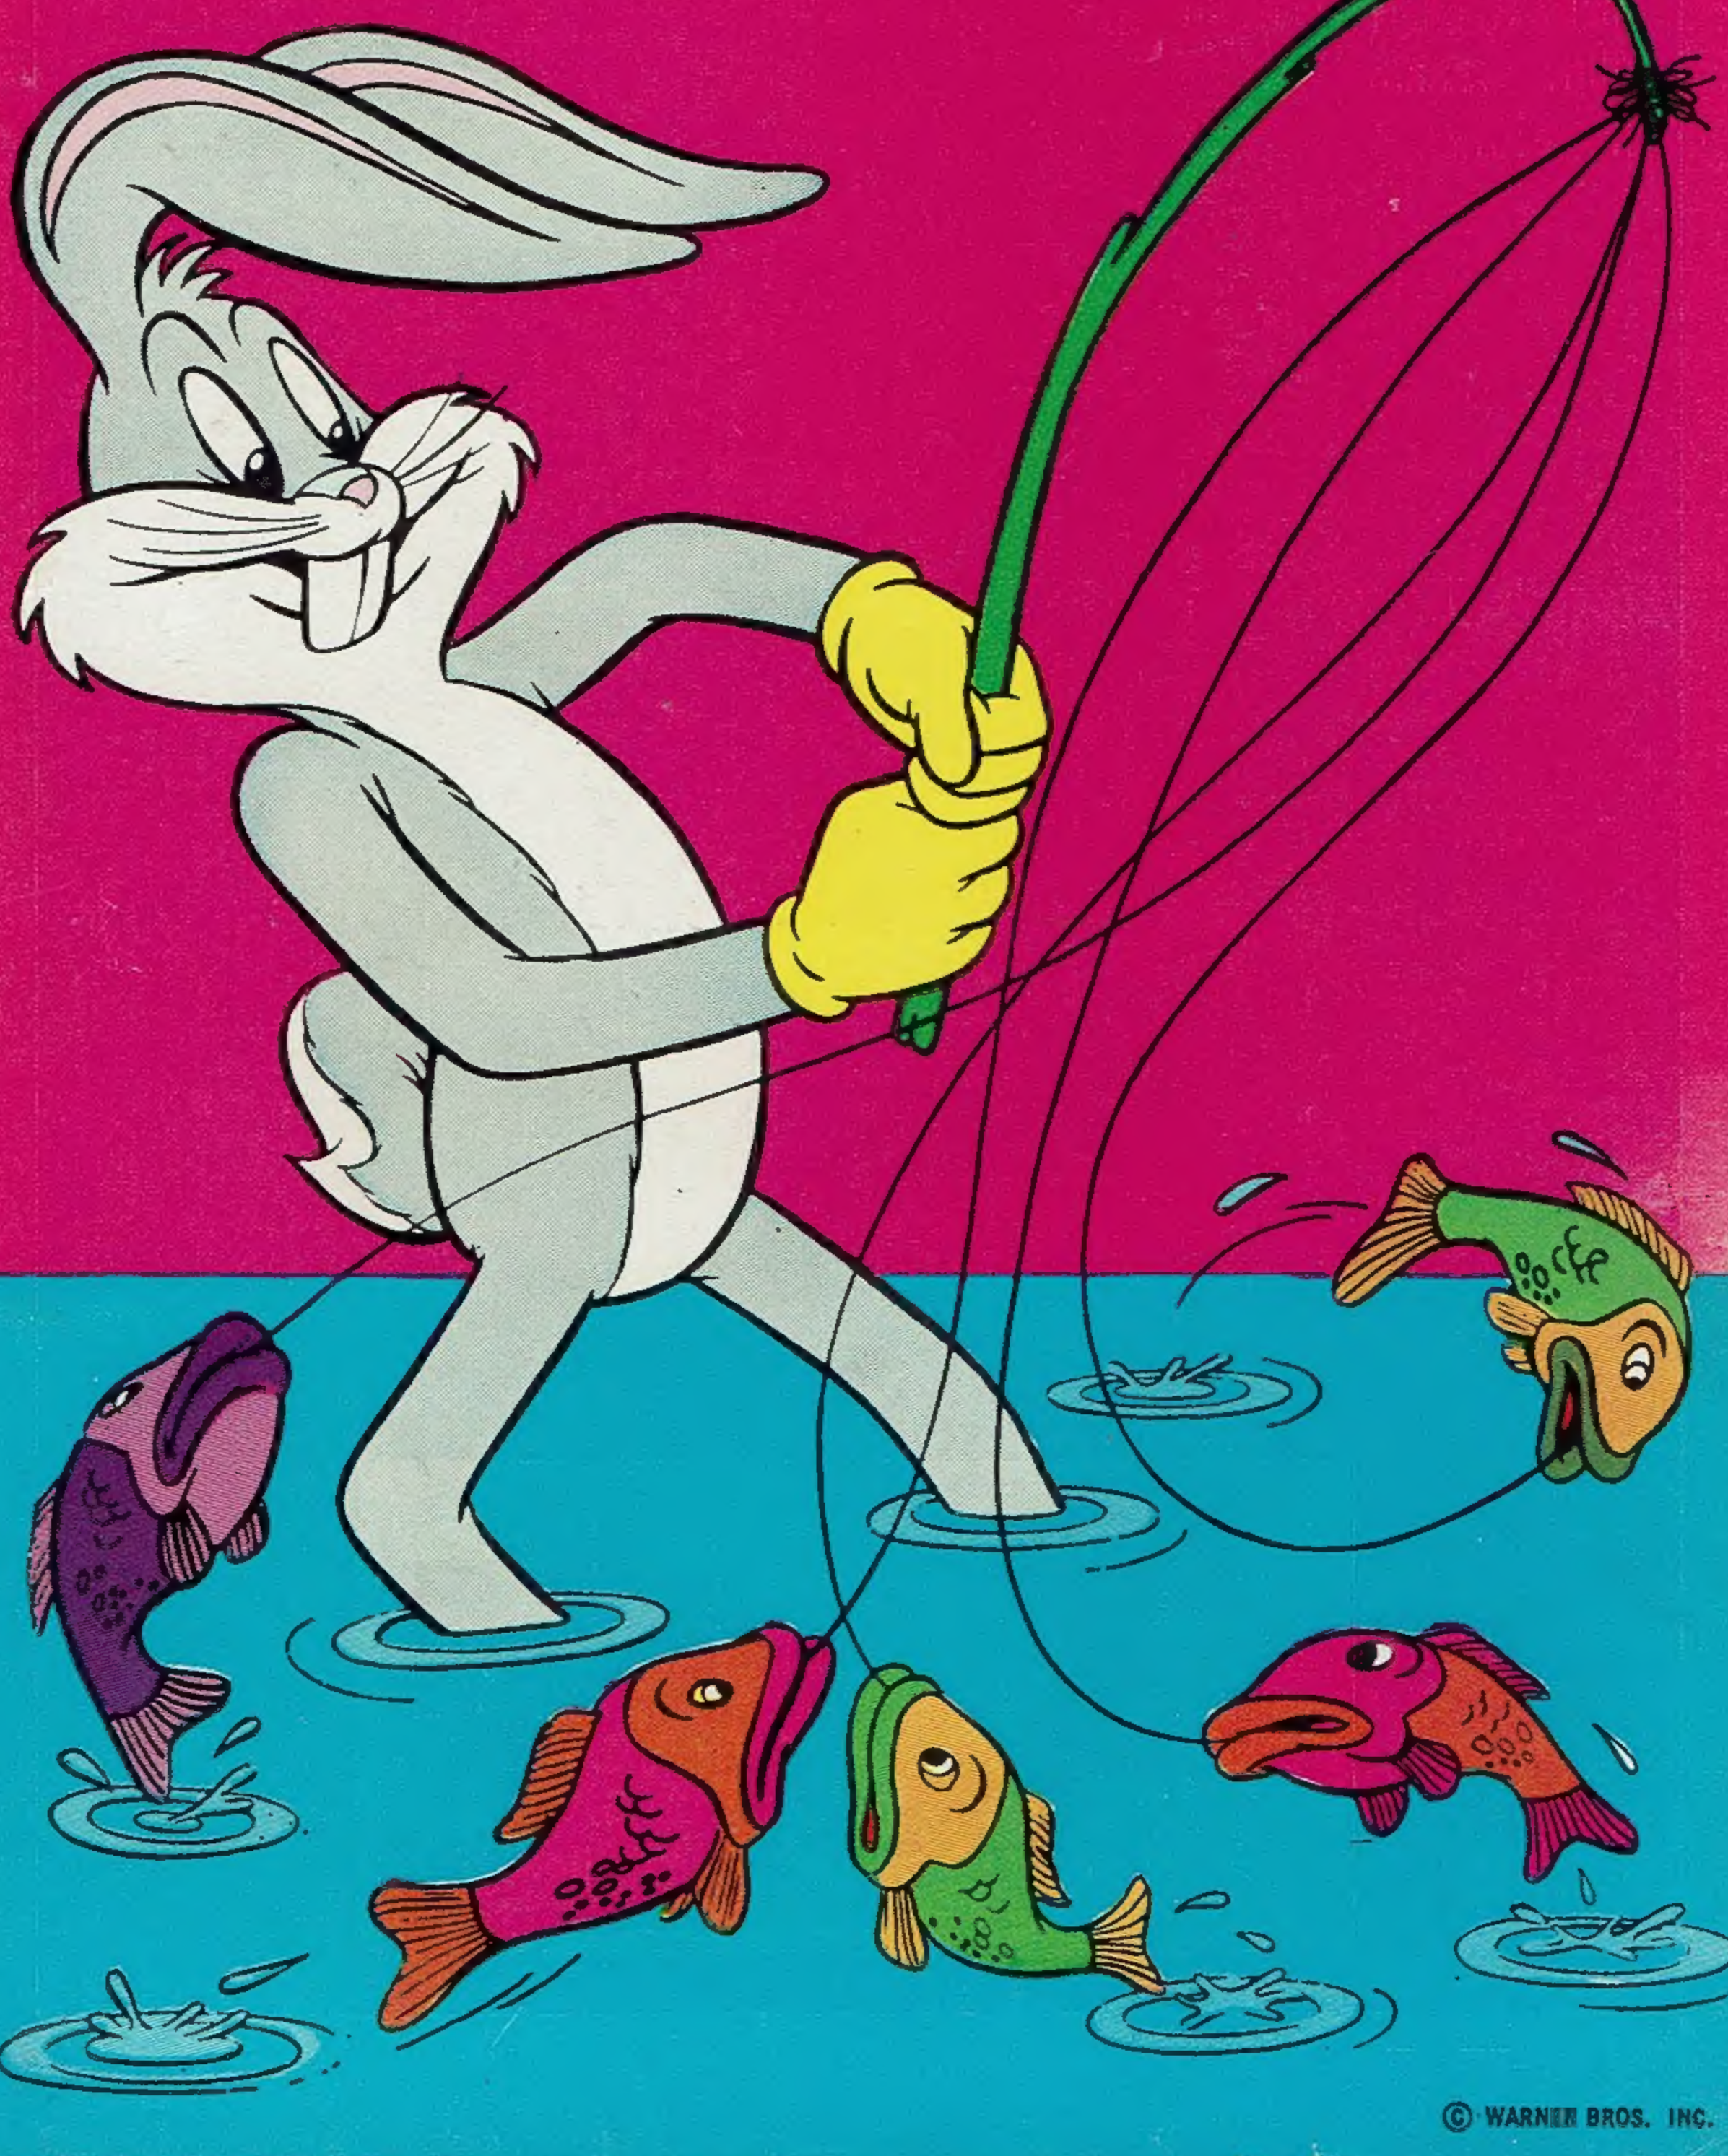
BUGS BUNNY



© WARNER BROS. INC.

On safari, a boy learns to act like a man. Daisy's Safari Mark I™ B·B Gun teaches the same lessons.

There is no room on a big game hunt for a boy who doesn't understand safety and marksmanship. A kid has to learn fast.

Now the Daisy Safari Mark I B•B Gun can teach those same lessons.

It's not a toy. It's a B•B gun. It has big gun features, like a crossbolt safety and trigger guard cocking.

But it's a B•B gun, scaled down to your size.

And now you can learn marksmanship with the exciting Daisy B•B Target-Trap. It's a $4 value, now yours for only $1.99 when you buy any Daisy B•B Gun. Take the coupon below to your store when you buy.

For even more fun, pick-up our booklet, "The Air Rifle Marksman," where you buy your Daisy. It's only 50c.

Learn the lessons of a safari, with the Safari Mark I! Or choose from over 30 models of Daisy spring-air, CO_2, and pellet guns.

Since the 1800's, American boys have learned marksmanship with a Daisy. Now it's your turn.

Daisy B·B Target-Trap. $1.99

with purchase of any Daisy B•B Gun.

A $4 value.

The kit includes: Trap frame to catch B•Bs / Targetex rubber backstop / Daisy Air Rifle Manual / Full set of NRA 15-foot match targets / Full set of "Pop-Out Bullseye Targets" / (See the Bullseye "Pop-Out" when you hit it!)

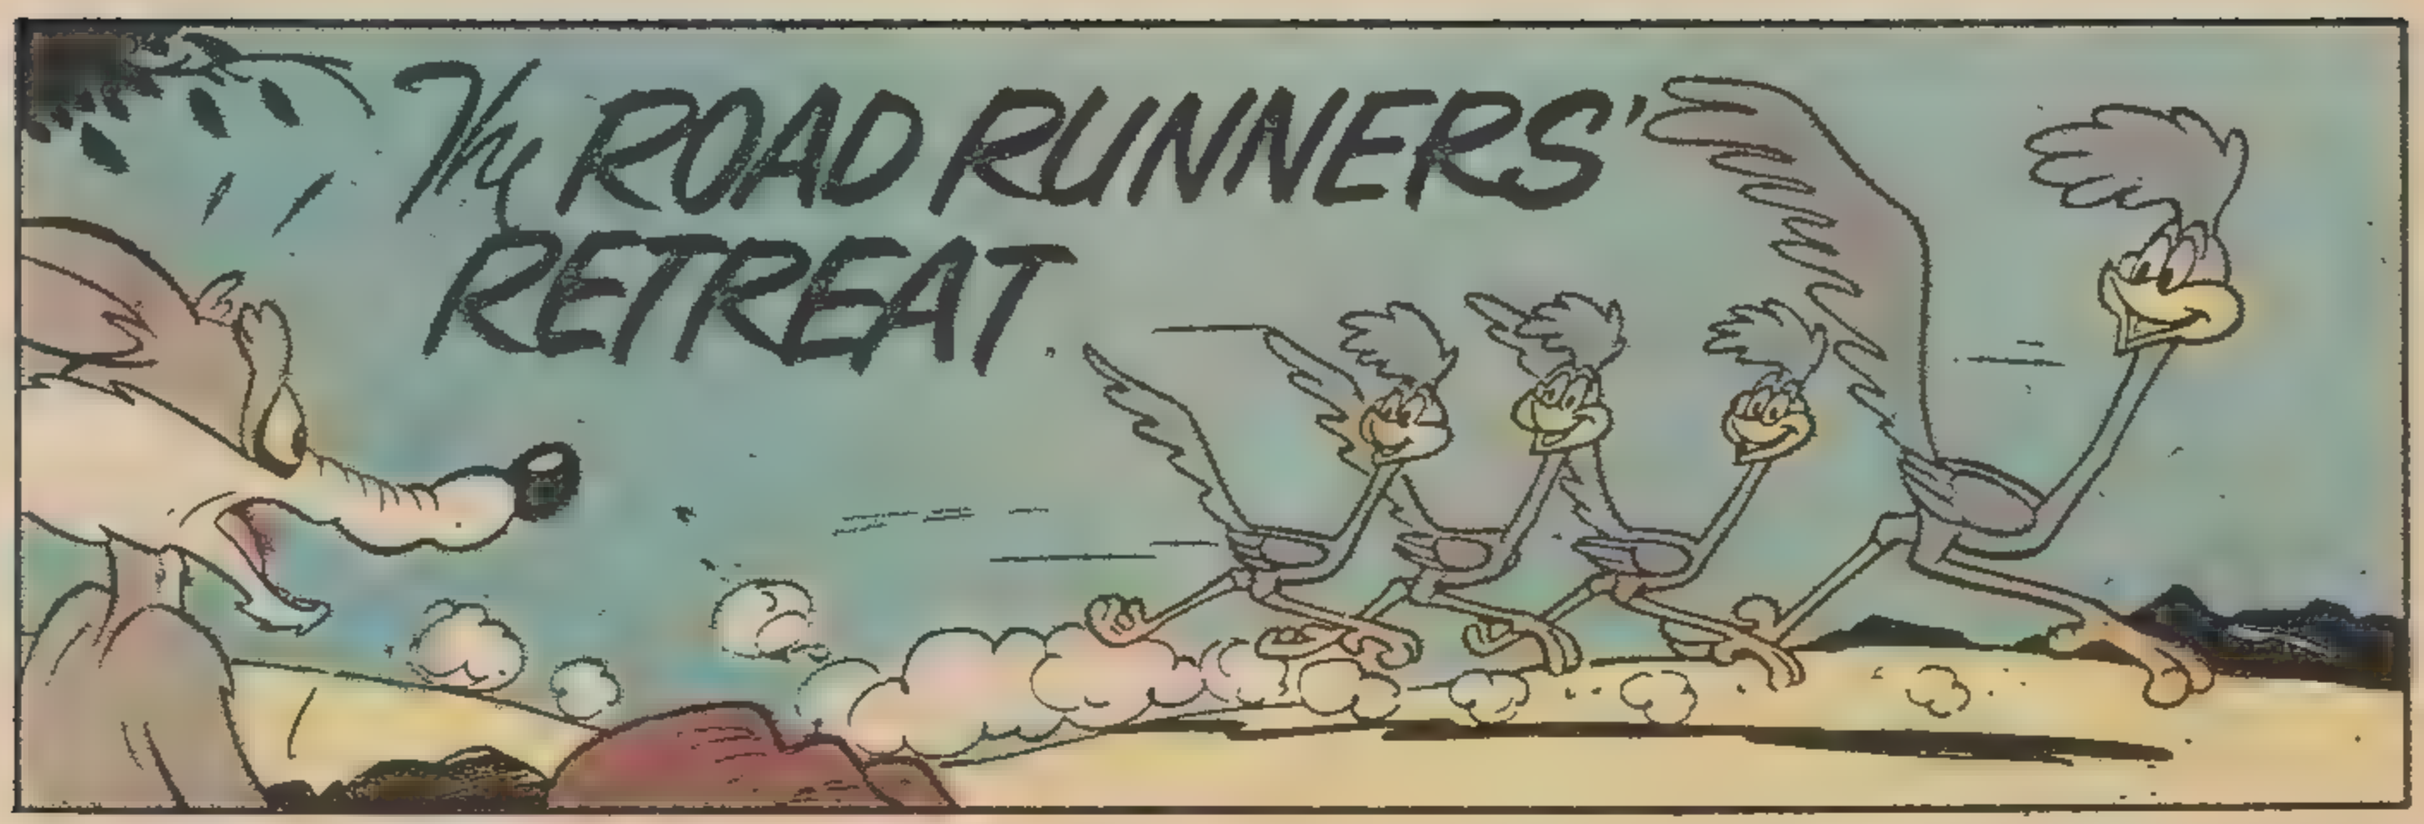
The End



The Road Runners raced for home, as Wile E. Coyote sped after them.

Collapsing on the floor, Papa Road Runner panted, "(Beep, beep) That coyote's such a pest, I really need a good long rest."

"And so do we (beep, beep) we all agree," puffed the little Road Runners.

"Think of something we can do, to make this longed-for rest come true," said Papa.

"I have a thought I do believe," cried one. "Why don't-we all just up and leave?"

His brothers exclaimed, "Hey, that's great! Come on, let's go, we can hardly wait!"

But . . . "That's a fine idea, you know," replied Papa, "but there is no place to go."

"(Beep, beep) Why not just go away?" asked a little Road Runner, suprised.

"'Cause we would have no place to stay!" said Papa. "We must have shelter from the sun, and wind and rain, like everyone."

"We could easily find a spot," said one of Beep Beep's sons.

"Maybe so — maybe not," said Papa. Then, sighing, he added, "No, to stay right here is best. Somehow we'll manage to get rest."

"That's it! A dandy plan! Oh, ho!" cried another. "We will just PRETEND to go!"

Papa Road Runner looked at the youngster with surprised admiration.

"To you, my son," he said, "I tip my hat. I wish that I had thought of that! We'll store up water and stuff to eat, and then we'll go into retreat! That's a trick that really should fool ol' Wile E. real good."

Everyone agreed that the plan sounded like fun. So the next few days they carried in food and water and some wood for the fire. And all the time, they had to run fast to stay out of the coyote's clutches!

"I'm glad this job is almost done," a little Beep Beep panted. "With my arms full, I can hardly run!"

"I think we have the things we need," Papa decided a short time later. "We really did that job with speed."

Papa Beep Beep put a sign on the door which read LEFT TOWN. Then he bolted the door securely, and they all settled down in their snug home for a good rest. They slept and ate and played games and sat around the fire telling stories. And they all laughed thinking of the coyote.

"I'll bet he wishes that he knew where it is that we went to," giggled one.

It was true. Wile E. was puzzled and sad and lonely and angry and frustrated.

"All those good dinners gone," he moaned.

To the Road Runners, it was a relief not to be running from him, and their retreat was great fun . . . for the first days.

Then . . . "I wonder if it's day or night," one of them said wistfully.

"Or if the sun is bright," said another.

"Or if Wile E. is still near by, or if he's chasing another guy."

Papa Road Runner looked at his brood and laughed, "It sounds to me like we all want to go out for a speedy jaunt!"

As he unbolted the door and looked out, he saw Wile E. Coyote sitting under a tree looking very forlorn. Turning to the youngsters, he shouted, "On your mark — get set to race! We'll start off a merry chase!"

"Beep, beep! Beep, beep!" called the Road Runners as they sped past the coyote, who could hardly believe his eyes.

"They're back! They're back!" he shouted happily, as he started after them.

"Beep, beep! Beep, beep!" laughed the Road Runners . . . and the chase was on again!
